Notes

- This is the major-listing set, not every issuer. The TSX and TSX Venture Exchange together carry roughly 3,000–3,500 listed issuers, most of them small-cap mining and energy shells. The table above covers the large and mid-cap names that carry the index — treat it as the working set, and use SEDAR+ below for the full register.
- Dual listings are the norm. Most of the large names also trade in New York under the same or a similar symbol (RY, TD, BNS, BMO, CM, ENB, TRP, CNQ, SU, CVE, CNI, CP, SHOP, TRI and others). Tickers here are the Toronto listing.
- Recent changes to confirm: Canadian Western Bank was acquired by National Bank in 2025; MEG Energy was acquired by Cenovus in 2025; Veren merged into Whitecap Resources in 2025; Parkland Corporation was acquired by Sunoco LP in 2025; Innergex Renewable Energy was taken private by CDPQ in 2025; Nuvei was taken private by Advent in 2024. Teck Resources' proposed combination with Anglo American was announced in 2025 — check whether it has closed.
- Headquarters, not exchange. Some Canadian-headquartered companies list only in the US: lululemon athletica runs from Vancouver but is a Delaware-incorporated Nasdaq issuer. Conversely RB Global (formerly Ritchie Bros.) kept its TSX listing after moving its headquarters to Westchester, Illinois.
- Bank of Montreal keeps its legal head office in Montreal and its operational headquarters in Toronto;

both appear in filings.
